From Next Friday

Fargo, N. D., May 7.—Republicans will nominate by convention their candidate for congress to succeed the late H. T. Helgesen, such action being determined upon at a conference of state committeemen, county chairmen, prominent party members, at the call of National Committeeman Gunder Olson, held in Fargo Sunday. Friday evening of this week the state central committee members representing the legislative districts comprising the First congressional district, will meet in Fargo with National Committeeman Gunder Olson for the purpose of determining upon the apportionment of delegates to the convention; the date for the caucus and the date for the convention. That the convention system is the mode prescribed by the laws of the state in the selection of party candidates for a congressional vacancy was the view unanimously expressed by prominent attorneys who participated in the informal conference held at the Waldorf hotel in Fargo on Sunday. The proposal that the petition system was governing met with no sanction.

Unlucky Number Thirteen. Thirteen of the twenty state committeemen in the district attended the conference. Four county chairmen were present in person or by proxy. A striking resolution adopted by the conference contains the suggestion that the committeemen, when they make their call, advise the county conventions to refrain from binding their delegates to any particular candidate; that they eschew the unit rule in voting; and that the delegates be permitted to come to the state convention entirely free to act as they may deem for the best interests of the state and nation—for the selection of a candidate for congress at this time is a matter of vital importance in view of the great war crisis that confronts the nation.

The call for the meeting of the state central committee men to be held here Friday evening, was issued today. They will confer with Gunder Olson, the national committeeman, in fixing the caucus, county and state convention dates.

Among Those Present. Among the men present at the conference were: Ray Craig, Ransom county; R. J. Hughes, Richland county; K. J. Noland, Traill county; Treadwell Twichell and L. L. Twichell, Cass county; A. W. Fowler, Cass county; O. B. Butters and J. D. Bacon, Grand Forks county; C. W. Plain, Cavalier county; Ole A. Rod, Walsh county; Buckmiller, Sargent county; A. Leslie, Sargent county; G. J. Mustad, Steele county; G. Ross, Richland county; D. A. Cross, Sargent county; F. T. Cuthbert, Ramsey county; A. Holte, Cass county; Geo. White, Traill county; I. J. Nelson, Walsh county; R. A. Westcott, Grand Forks county; Burleigh F. Spalding, Cass county.

Fowler Pulls Out. Yesterday's informal Republican conference reduced the previously recognized field of candidates for the congressional job by one—A. W. Fowler, Cass county, declared he wasn't a candidate for the place.

On the other hand, there were several additions to the list. Prominent among the new names are those of C. W. Plain, Wilton, former state senator; H. H. Aaker, Grand Forks, former Republican candidate for governor; Judge Burleigh F. Spalding, Fargo, former congressman.

Previously mentioned prospective candidates now in the foreground are O. B. Butters, Grand Forks; John E. Paulson, Traill county; K. J. Noland, Buxton; F. T. Cuthbert, Devils Lake; Ray Craig, Lisbon; A. T. Kraabel, Clifford; G. Henry, G. Vik, Cavalier.

Lemke Not In. For some time there was more or less discussion as to the possibility that William Lemke might become a candidate. Within the last few days it has been authoritatively stated that he has abandoned any notion of entering the race.

The fact that the Nonpartisan league leaders are, so far, shy of clear of the congressional situation, is responsible for the fact that Mr. Lemke will not be in the race.

KIDDER SUNDAY SCHOOL
CONVENTION AT STEELE

Mr. Langer's Epidemic
Or Libelling a City

Malicious reports relative to the health of Bismarck and the condition of the city's water supply through the action of Attorney General Langer, Dr. Curren, secretary of the state board of health and Dr. Cox, head of the health laboratory of the University of North Dakota, have been given some official stamp, despite the fact that they are wholly without foundation. Pusillanimous cranks are seeking to stamper the community and create a condition seriously prejudicial to the welfare of the city.

THE REAL MOTIVE

The Tribune has been silent, although importuned by a few citizens to enter a controversy precipitated wholly in the interests of other cities anxious to secure the mobilization of the troops and determined to prevent the establishment of a training camp at Fort Lincoln.

Mr. Langer's malicious attacks upon the water supply accompanied by damnable falsehood, innuendo and personal spite, make it necessary to state plainly to the public the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

Unfortunately there are weak minded and excitable people within our ranks who seem to relish befouling their own nests by the circulation of rumors, unsupported statements and falsehoods relative to health conditions in Bismarck.

Consciously or unconsciously these people have been defaming the reputation of a city known over the state for its excellent health conditions with a water supply envied by those who drink Red River soup and Mouse River bouillon.

Mandan, Washburn, Williston and other cities in the state and without the state secure a water supply from the same source as Bismarck, but the state board of health under the spur of Attorney General Langer has not seen fit to order the water shut off at those places.

NO CHANCE OF POLLUTION

Nature has provided the best means of purifying the Missouri river water by a turbulent current and a natural sand filter. No sewage empties into the river above us and for miles and miles, yes even to its source, the stream is free of possible contamination.

Why is Bismarck of all cities using the Missouri as the source of its water supply singled out as the horrible example of civic disease and filth?

ANSWER NEAR AT HAND

Citizens of Bismarck, the reason is apparent. There is a well organized campaign on foot to prevent the mobilization of troops at Fort Lincoln. The same hue and cry was raised last summer when the boys mobilized there preparatory to going to the Mexican border. United States Treasurer John Burke tried to move heaven and earth to get the troops mobilized at the national guard camp on the shores of Devils Lake. Dr. McCurren of Devils Lake, secretary of the state board of health, one of the prime movers in this attack upon Bismarck's water supply, was as active then as he is now. Dr. Bristol, whom Dr. Cox of the state university health laboratory has succeeded, joined forces, but they were unable to impress the war department by their libelous attacks upon the health and water supply of Bismarck.

WOULD NOT BE MOLESTED

The Tribune is convinced that if there were no prospects of troop mobilization here, Bismarck would drink Missouri river water as unmolested as unquestioned as Mandan, Washburn, Williston and other river points.

There is no epidemic of any kind in Bismarck. There is no typhoid epidemic. The water is as safe and healthful as any in the state.

These facts, not the vapors of Mr. Langer and a few carpet-baggers who have recently arrived in Bismarck must be taken as a guide, if all that we esteem in our city is to be protected. Cheap political chicanery as practiced by Mr. Langer is not proof. In all this controversy there has been a famine of facts and an excess of hot air.

HIS DRY ORDER

Mr. Langer has served upon the City Commission an order dated May 2 which reads in parts as follows: "THEREFORE YOU AND EACH OF YOU ARE HEREBY ORDERED NOT TO SUPPLY OR ALLOW TO BE SUPPLIED TO THE CITIZENS OR USERS GENERALLY OF SAME ANY WATER FOR USE OR SUPPLIED IN SUCH A MANNER AS TO BE CAPABLE OF BEING USED FOR DRINKING, COOKING, WASHING, BATHING, OR OTHER DOMESTIC PURPOSE."

Just let that sink in citizens of Bismarck. With health conditions normal, no epidemic of any kind prevalent, the president of the state board of health and its secretary, supposedly a reputable citizen of Devils Lake, a city bidding for the mobilization, prostitute their high office to embarrass a city and inconvenience its citizens without cause, rhyme or reason.

Some one evidently losing his head amidst the general hysteria, turned off the water in all the schools last week, while children were tortured with thirst.

In kindness to the children, the board should close the schools if the members of the school board are not going to let the children drink the water. It is essential for many reasons that the water be turned on in all the schools, and the action has raised a serious presumption that this procedure is actually punishing the children by denying them water. If the authorities have been caught in the general hysteria, they should dismiss the children as long as they cut off their water supply.

Suppose the water had been turned off in compliance with Langer's order, there would have been no water for steam. All industries would have shut down for there would have been no electricity and the city would have been in darkness. No heat could be supplied. It is impossible to enforce Langer's order without cutting off the supply to every consumer for all purposes.

It is not hard to imagine what might have resulted. Was there ever a more wanton abuse of official position?

ANIMUS IS REVEALED

The animus of the order is revealed through its drastic terms. No ultimatum from a health board was ever more assinine. Suppose the city commission with fear and trembling turned off the water and shut off the supply from from every home and business block in Bismarck? That is what Langer's order called for. The Tribune in all fairness asks the citizens of Bismarck what would have been their predicament?

The extremity of the order showed the motive, revealed a pettifoggish official overbalanced by a new won power—a child as it were with a gilded toy.

All this, citizens of Bismarck without any basis or justification.

A MENDACIOUS ORDER

On May 2, 1917, when he penned his mendacious order there had not been a case of typhoid fever reported within seven days. During the entire month of April ONLY NINE CASES WERE REPORTED TO DR. STRAUSS, CITY HEALTH OFFICER, AND OF THIS NUMBER ONLY EIGHT WERE IN BISMARCK.

With this information easily obtainable, Mr. Langer put into his order these words and gave them out for publication in the Courier-News of Fargo, not to better health conditions, but maliciously to injure Bismarck.

"There are at present a considerable number of cases of typhoid fever in the City of Bismarck and there exists grave danger of the spread of an epidemic of the same because of the condition of the water."

Mr. Langer swung his legal club in hopes of scaring into line some who refused to follow his absurd order. His epidemic and "con-

Organization in America to Pur-

portation Problems

Washington, May 7.—Two allied war commissions, one sitting in London and one here, appeared to be one of the first steps in order to coordinate the resources of the United States with the allies. The commission in London with representatives of all allied nations, including the United States, would receive and decide upon the proportionate sea-borne traffic.

Conservation of Ships. The commission would then charge itself with sending such supplies either by direct purchase or through present agencies. While the broad of the submarine menace continues it is essential to conserve every ship for needed freight, and the only way this can be done is to have the allies submit their needs to a central body in London, which shall have the power to give priority to the most necessary articles.

At the same time the commission in this country would judiciously keep the railroad lines open to the seaboard.

PREPARING FOR SEVERAL YEARS'
WAR, GOVERNOR

Frazier Finds Sentiment in Washington Not Inclined to Dis-

MEETING OF DEFENSE
COUNCIL TO BE HELD

Call Will Go Out As Soon As Congress Takes Definite Action on Conscription

"All preparations are being made with a view to the possibility, if not the probability of a four or five years' war," said Governor Frazier this morning in discussing the national defense council which he attended in Washington last week, returning home Saturday evening.

"There is a war-like spirit everywhere. Everyone is preparing, and there is no inclination to discount the gravity of the situation. Plans for national defense and for aggression seem to be well in hand; able men have been appointed to the advisory committee of the national defense council, and they appear to have everything provided for."

State Defense Council. Governor Frazier intimated this morning that no meeting of the North Dakota national defense council will be called until after congress has acted conclusively on the conscription bill, and some definite and concerted line of action may be devised. Some of the states, the governor reports, already have engaged in this work, but such forwardness is not advocated as it may not be found in keeping with the general plan to be adopted after the advisory board learns just what is expected of it.

The hoarding of food products for speculative purposes will be discouraged through every means in the power of the government, said the chief executive. Reports of efforts to corner this and that food supply already have been received at Washington, and they are being carefully investigated. Price regulation, with probably a limit upon the amount of food which may be purchased by any one individual or interest and upon the length of time which it may be held, seems inevitable.

Controversy Between Council of Workmen and Soldiers' Delegates Is Settled

"WAR TO VICTORIOUS

Crowds Cheer Russian Leader
Who Announces That Democracy Has Won Victory

Petrograd, May 7.—The controversy between the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates and the provisional government, that for the last 24 hours had threatened such serious consequences, in which, in fact, the fate of the nation and possibly of the war were involved, has been settled.

Prince Tseretelli, speaking before a tremendous assemblage of soldiers and workmen at the naval cadet building where the council held a special meeting to receive the report of the executive council, declared that the government had prepared a new declaration concerning its foreign policy, which in definite language corresponded to the proclamation of April 9 and embodied the views of the proletariat.

Crowd Cheers Announcement. When the speaker declared that the temporary government had acquitted itself of the charge brought against it by explaining what it meant by the vague form of yesterday's declaration, a great cheer arose. It apparently voiced the relief which all present felt with the solution of the most serious difficulty which had confronted the country since the revolution.

Prince Tseretelli then read the new declaration by the government and explained that the trouble was over and that the provisional government would remain in power. Democracy, he announced, amid cheering, had won a great victory. The speaker explained that the principal exception which the council had taken to the recent note of the government was the phrase, "war to a victorious conclusion," which, he asserted, was an unfortunate expression, since it was identical with the formula used so often by the old regime with quite a different sense.

Will Struggle to the End. "Now that the question has been settled here," said the prince, "our aims—war without annexation, expropriations or contributions—also must be realized abroad. If a similar movement takes place in the foreign democracies, this will bring peace, nearer and we shall struggle until our views are also the avowed aims of the democracies with which we are allied."

"The situation yesterday was most serious for the whole country. Conflict seemed unavoidable but the government realized that it must respect the determination. By this acknowledgment the government has shown that it deserves the trust of the democracy. The council appeals to the people to unite around it."

M. Stankevitch, social democrat, said: "The vague form in which the government's note was composed caused us to lose two valuable days at a time when it is necessary to work every hour—every minute; but these two days have served to show us our own lack of organization. The time has not yet come to take the management into our own hands. A coalition ministry is not the watchword of today, but of tomorrow."

Conciliation Is Complete. "The force is ours and we can overthrow the government when we wish. But the question is, have we the right to do this? We represent only the workmen and soldiers, not all Russia."

Other speakers dwelt in the situation in the same temperate vein and the gathering soon broke up with conciliation.

Anti-government demonstrations, however, were still occurring in the streets. While the members of the executive committee were explaining the rapprochement with the government, a great manifestation was taking place outside the very doors of the building. Orators who were denouncing the government were loudly acclaimed.

Late tonight there was a second clash, in which shooting occurred in front of the Hotel Europe.

TORPEDOING TIES
DUTCH SHIPPING

London, May 7.—Special dispatches from Holland say that the persistent torpedoing of the Dutch trawlers has caused fishermen to tie up their boats. The trawlers were guaranteed safety within prescribed limits, and a supply of German coal on condition that they supply fish for the German market. The coal was not received and the sinking continued, so the German legation at The Hague is said to have been notified no more fish will be supplied.

Washington, May 7.—New York banks today lost their litigation in the supreme court against the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie at Boston, in which they claimed $2,240,000 damages for failure of the vessel to deliver gold bullion worth $11,000,000, shipped to England and France just at the outbreak of the war.

The Cecilie, the supreme court decided, is not liable to damages to shippers for turning back to America in mid-ocean and abandoning her voyage.

MACHINE TURNS
TURTLE KILLING
GRAIN SOLICITOR

Body of T. H. Chambers of Bismark, Discovered East of Sterling by Farmer

HOURS PASSED BEFORE
MAN COULD BE IDENTIFIED

Speeding toward his home in Bismarck to spend Sunday with his wife and 4-year-old daughter, T. H. Chambers, grain solicitor for the C. C. Wyman Grain Commission company of Minneapolis, was killed one mile east of Sterling, N. D., Saturday night, when his machine turned over in descending a hill. The accident occurred between 7:30 and 8:30 o'clock.

Farmer Discovers Body. C. H. Lundquist, a farmer driving to Sterling, discovered the body lying in the center of the road, about eight rods from the wrecked car. Broken glass from the windshield was scattered about the face.

S. T. Peris, a merchant of Sterling, was one of the men of the village to be notified, and with several others left for the hill. From the appearance of the car, which was a new Ford, Parks said, in going down the hill it had evidently skidded, tearing off the right hind wheel and as it turned over several times, the occupant was thrown forward through the windshield into the middle of the road. Portions of the body were cut by the glass but no bones were broken.

Authorities Notified. Sheriff J. P. French of Burleigh county and Coroner Schipp left for Sterling about 9 o'clock and brought the body to Bismarck at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning. It was taken to the Lucas undertaking establishment and will be held there pending funeral arrangements, which will be announced from the home at 49 Thayer street some time this afternoon.

First reports of the accident brought to Bismarck told of a machine turning turtle, the one occupant being killed and that he was a representative of the C. C. Wyman Grain Commission company of Minneapolis. Efforts to learn the name proved futile until about 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, after the sheriff and the coroner had reached the spot.

The number of the auto, 34,016, was telephoned to Bismarck, in order that the identity might be made through that source.

Took Position 1st of April. Chambers, formerly with the McCabe grain commission house, came to Bismarck about two and a half years ago, from Carrington, N. D., having bought wheat there for several years. On the 1st of April he took a position with the C. C. Wyman company, recently buying the automobile, which he was driving at the time.

His sister, Miss Marian Rude of Carrington, arrived in the city last night, and her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Rude of Sidney, Mont., and a sister, Mrs. Walter Harvey of Savoy, Mont., reached Bismarck this morning on No. 4. Another sister, Carrie Chambers of Menominee, Wis., and a brother, Rev. Harley Chambers of West Union, Ia., not expected to attend the service.

POLITICAL TURMOIL IN GERMANY STILL CONTINUES

Russian Riddle Unsolved but Provisional Government Still in the Saddle

French guns have battered down the back door to Laon and the soldiers of Gen. Nivelle are only six miles from the German stronghold. One formidable barrier lies between them and their goal, the Aisne river. From the captured heights of Chemin des Zames, the French guns overlook that plain.

Capture Nearer. Laon will not be captured except at a heavy price, but the French victory of the last week has brought its capture appreciably nearer.

Renewed fighting broke out about Bullecourt. The British, who had been holding positions south and east of the village, where they had been violently attacked during the last four days, moved forward just before dawn in a general attack on the village itself. There had been patrol fighting in the village before this, but today's attack was of an enveloping nature. It met with stubborn resistance but steady progress was being made as this dispatch was written, and the troops had passed well within the town, which lies absolutely astride the Hindenburg line.

The developments on the battlefield are chiefly important for the possibilities they open up. In Germany there is much talk of political reform and several proposals have been put forward in the Reichstag to curtail the power of the emperor.

Startling Reports. Startling reports come from Austria in regard to conditions in the dual monarchy. Apparently Count Tisza and his fellow reactionaries have the upper hand and are determined to crush the power of the democracy with the same ruthlessness as before. There are rumors of martial law in Austria and Bohemia, but no news has reached the outside world in regard to conditions.

Russian Riddle Unsolved. The Russian riddle remains unsolved, but for the time being the provisional authorities seem to be safe. Reports of demoralization in the Russian army received comfortable confirmation by a proclamation of General Guerkov, commander on the eastern front, ordering the soldiers to stop fraternizing with the German troops.

In spite of the peaceable ending of the May Day celebration in Sweden, the international troubles in that country seem to be rising rather than diminishing. Riots and food demonstrations are reported from various points, and from such partial reports as are received, the authorities are confronted with an ugly situation.

Laon Is Center
Of Teuton Attacks

Paris, May 7.—The Germans concentrated their efforts yesterday morning in attacks on the west front in the region of Laon, and in the afternoon in the eastern section from Braye to Craonne. But the French held them and beat off waves upon waves of the enemy's reserves with terrible losses. More than that the French, after hours of stiff fighting, maintained the fresh positions in the region of the attack.

Siegfried Line. General Neville has no secure, as he is confronted by the famous Siegfried line, a system of fortifications on which the Germans have lavished weeks of work and which are of the most formidable type.

Clean Out Woods. On the right wing, German battalions cleaned out of Flin wood to attack Froimont farm which stands midway between Chevreigny and Hill No. 185. They were virtually annihilated. It would be difficult for the Germans to prevent the French from reaching the Aisne river on this part of the front. The famous Chemin des Zames, the key of the whole section, is now in a great part in the possession of the French. In several places they have gone even far beyond this.

It was the possession of this road which enabled the Germans to hold up the French attack so long. Bullecourt, entered by British troops, is directly on the Hindenburg line, giving the Germans no time to bring up reserves from Laon. General Haig's troops today began to widen the breach that they had made in the line at Bullecourt. Counter attacks of extreme violence rapidly repeated have failed to shake the British grip on the line here and have not prevented them from striking

NEWS OF NORTH DAKOTA AND NORTHWEST

MISSING MEN'S BODIES FOUND IN RED WILLOW LAKE

B. C. Phipps and Harry Vadnie of McHenry, Drowned When Their Boat Capsized

SEASON'S FIRST FISHING PARTY HAS TRAGIC END

(Special to Tribune.)

Cooperstown, N. D., May 7.—B. C. Phipps, cashier of the First National bank of McHenry, and Harry Vadnie, druggist, of the same city, were drowned Friday afternoon in Red Willow lake, seven miles north of Bismarck, according to word received in this city Saturday morning. The bodies of the men were found by a searching party that went to the lake when Phipps and Vadnie failed to return from a fishing trip started Friday afternoon. The bodies were found in about six feet of water 15 rods from the shore on the north end of the lake.

While there were no witnesses to the accident, it is apparent that the boat capsized and threw Phipps and Vadnie into the water and the latter being unable to swim was being helped by Phipps when the banker was attacked by cramps and both sank to the bottom of the lake.

Fail to Return Home.

The alarm was first given when the fishermen failed to return on Saturday morning. When the searching party arrived at the lake they found the automobile in which Phipps and Vadnie had gone to their cottage at the south end of the lake standing by the shore, the lunch they had taken along left untouched in the car and other indications that the drowning had occurred in the late afternoon. Further search discovered the overturned boat by the shore and the hat of one of the men floating in the water nearby, and the bodies were later discovered in the same location. The bodies were taken to Bismarck about noon Saturday and will be taken to McHenry for burial, the date of the funeral not having been announced as yet.

Victims Were Prominent.

McHenry, N. D., May 7.—B. C. Phipps, who was one of the victims of the drowning accident at Red Willow lake, was born at Paynesville, Minn., 41 years ago and about 14 years ago was married to Miss Anna Hammer of Cooperstown. He is survived by his wife and one daughter and a son. His mother lives at Pasadena, Cal., and one sister, Mrs. Drinkwater, lives at Bismarck in this state. He was prominent in business and social circles of the village where he has resided for the past 19 years. He was prominent in Masonic circles, being a member of the Cooperstown lodge.

H. R. Vadnie came to McHenry about a year ago from Sanborn and

Difference of 1.82 Bushels Noted in Wheat Sown in May And That Planted in April

(Special to Tribune.)

North Dakota Agricultural College, May 7.—Taking the average yields for the state as recorded by the United States bureau of statistics covering a period of 24 years from 1893 to 1916, inclusive, and comparing them with the experience of station's records in North Dakota on field work on the years when the wheat seeding was begun in May and with the ones secured for 14 years when the wheat seeding was done in April, J. H. Sheppard of the state agricultural college, finds that the difference between wheat seeded in April and wheat seeded in May is 1.82 bushels.

Those figures indicate that early May seeding may be expected to produce 15 or 25 per cent less crop than April seeding in the state as a whole. They also seem to show that seeding later than the fifteenth of May does not promise to give more than one-third of an April seeded crop. The report of Professor Sheppard further shows that he looked over data compiled by the Canadian government giving wheat prices on the British market from the year 1890 down to the year 1916 and which disclosed that the price of wheat has ruled very high during every war period from that time to, and including the present war. In past years the price has held high on the British market for from one to three years after war has closed.

"If history repeats itself," says Professor Sheppard's report, "it will be worth figuring over by the man who has land that he can seed to wheat whether the chances of getting two-thirds of the crop that he might expect from an April seeding will still pay him for his labor and the risk that he will run by seeding up to the middle of May."

EXPENDITURE OF $1,000 WOULD OPEN MANY ACRES

(Special to Tribune.)

Cakes, N. D., May 7.—Farmers of the Riverdale district at a mass meeting held this week figured that between 3,000 and 5,000 acres of tillable land could be drained by the opening of a ditch about a mile and a half to cost in the neighborhood of $1,000. The whole country as far south as Houghton and east to Casswell and Brampton is badly in need of drainage, but it is doubtful if anything can be done this spring to insure putting in a crop.

The membership fee is $5. The directors at a recent meeting let the contract for the grading of two sections of road west of the city, which will complete the improved road from the city limits to the Great Northern crossing.

BRANDING OPERATIONS TO BE STARTED NEAR LINTON

(Special to Tribune.)

Linton, N. D., May 7.—Because of the large number of cattle being stolen during the year, branding operations will commence on several of the large ranches in this vicinity next week. Branding makes one think of pioneer days, but it seems necessary, to protect the owners, when cattle prices are so high.

MR. LANGER'S EPIDEMIC OR LIBELLING A CITY

siderable number of cases" upon investigation of the records of the health authorities are reduced to eight cases in April and NONE so far in May.

This then citizens of Bismarck is Mr. Langer's epidemic. Is it fair to you who have your family to protect, your business welfare to guard? Is it fair to the general welfare of the Capital City of the state in which we all take a just pride? How long are the citizens going to put up with the malicious lying of the attorney general's office. His order is a falsehood, a malicious abuse of authority, a debasement of a high office to the exigencies of cheap party politics. And it is not the first offense. If the action did not affect so vitally the welfare of the city, Langer's drivel could be dismissed with the silent contempt it deserves.

IN THE LIGHT OF THE OFFICIAL HEALTH STATISTICS AVAILABLE TO ANY CITIZEN, MR. LANGER'S EPIDEMIC VANISHES INTO THIN AIR AND BRANDS HIM AS A PREVARICATOR OF THE MOST DANGEROUS TYPE.

Not relying solely upon the analysis of the city bacteriologist, samples of water are sent periodically to the health laboratory of the St. Paul health department presided over by Dr. Justus Ohage, one of the best known health experts in America. The last report showed the water free from contamination. For the last year there has been a wide variance between the St. Paul reports and the local analysis. Copies of these reports are available and any citizen can examine them. There is no cause for alarm over the condition of the water.

The general health of Bismarck is excellent. Aside from two cases of smallpox, one of which originated outside the city, while the other resulted from the nurse employed on the case contracting the disease, one case of pulmonary tuberculosis, which came from Ellsworth; one case of scarlet fever and one of measles, the city was free from contagion during the month of April.

For the last eleven days not a single case of typhoid has been reported to the city health officer, Dr. F. B. Strauss. During the entire month of April eight cases were reported as originating in Bismarck, and one was brought to a local hospital from outside the city. The health laws require that every case of contagious and infectious disease of a serious or dangerous nature be reported to the health officer, and it is believed that no Bismarck doctor is failing to comply with this requirement. It is safe to presume, therefore, that every contagious disease existing in the Capital City during the month of April has been recorded with the health officer.

EXPERIENCE FOR 1917
Bismarck's health record for the first four months of 1917 is normal. Dr. F. B. Strauss, city health officer, has been advised of the following contagious or infectious diseases:

January—Typhoid, 1, from Max; smallpox, 1; scarlet fever, 2.
February—Typhoid, 2; pulmonary tuberculosis, 1, from outside of the state; smallpox, 2; measles, 10; varicella, (chickenpox), 5.
March—Typhoid, 4, as follows: Underwood, 1; New Salem, 1; Fort Yates, 1; Bismarck, 1; pulmonary tuberculosis, 2; place of residence not given; diphtheria, 2; smallpox, 1, reported from same household which had two cases in February; varicella, 6; measles, 16.
April—Typhoid, 9; Kulm, 1; Bismarck, 8; pulmonary tuberculosis, 1, from Ellsworth; smallpox, 2, both originating out of town; scarlet fever, 1; measles, 1.

NO EPIDEMIC

These official figures furnish no proof of an epidemic such as has been imputed to Bismarck by irresponsible public officials and publications. On May 2, when William Langer informed the city commission that "There are at present a considerable number of cases of typhoid fever in the city of Bismarck, and there exists grave danger of the spread of an epidemic of same because of the condition of the water supply," there had not been reported to the city health officer a single case of typhoid fever for a week; the city bacteriologist had just filed with the city health officer a letter commenting upon the marked improvement in the city water, and these facts could have been ascertained by Mr. Langer had he not preferred to rely upon hearsay and gossip.

During the same month of April Fargo reported eleven cases of typhoid fever, and at the end of the month its water, after sedimentation, showed a bacteria count 83 higher per cubic centimeter than that of the Bismarck water, according to unbiased reports of the two bacteriologists, while sixteen out of 28 samples of Fargo water showed the presence of colon bacilli.

SAME AS YEAR AGO

The Bismarck bacteriologist's report for April records that during the extremely high water around the tenth of the month Bismarck water showed an unusual degree of turbidity and a correspondingly high bacteria count, which is quite natural. It also shows a marked improvement each day since the tenth, proving that the water returned to normal as the river resumed its usual stage. The bacteria count is now running day by day on an almost exact level with that of a year ago.

The only reasonable proof of poor water is the presence of disease directly attributable to it. In the absence of such disease in any alarming number of cases, how then under heaven can there be any just indictment of the water?

DR. SMYTH'S STATEMENT

There is nothing to conceal. No mystery. One of the preposterous features about the entire agitation is that the detractors of the water supply can point to no cases of illness caused by it. They deal in generalities.

GARRISON OFFICERS LOOKING FOR "BAY RUM"

(Special to Tribune.)

The Tribune sent a representative to interview Dr. Smyth, county health official, and for years city health official.

"In my opinion we have the best water supply in the state," said County Health Officer F. R. Smyth in a recent interview with The Tribune. "Typhoid can be communicated only through typhoid germs. There is no reason to believe that there have been any typhoid germs in our water. No sewage empties into the river above our intake. As to an epidemic, I cannot state of my personal knowledge that there is a single case of typhoid in Bismarck. One case was reported to me by the wife of the supposed victim, who was seeking public aid at the time. No test was made, and I am by no means certain that it was typhoid."

Last year, with river conditions practically the same, no typhoid was reported in Bismarck until mid-summer, when there were a few scattering cases. Health reports indicate that Bismarck is freer from this scourge than any city in the state.

During the month of April, Fargo had eleven cases of typhoid. Why did not Mr. Langer order the water turned off and the hydrants plugged?

The Tribune would not be as unfair to Fargo as to insist that these eleven cases were due to the water supply. No one has taken any trouble to find out whether the eight cases reported in Bismarck in April were due to the water. It is reasonable to suppose that some of the eight cases on record contracted the disease other than through the water, and it is almost an assured fact that not one of the eight cases contracted the disease from drinking Missouri river water, for in a population of 8,000 there would have been more than eight cases in one month if the water were bad.

SIGN UP FOR YOUR TICKETS IMMEDIATELY

Are there enough music-loving people who appreciate high-class music to justify the management of the Auditorium in bringing here John Cort's beautiful production, "Flora Bella," one of the greatest musical comedy successes of the season, direct from the Casino theatre, New York, for one night only, Monday, May 21? That is the question.

"Flora Bella" has had a long run of 42 weeks at the Casino theatre, New York City, ten weeks at the Shubert theatre, Boston, and is the largest and most expensive musical organization on tour at the present day.

The company is headed by Miss Eleanor Henry, the original New York and Boston star, and the cast includes Miss Lillie Leonard, Guy J. Sampson, Miss Ruth Robins, Miss Kate Stout, Irving Brooks, Ben Grinnell, Mortimer H. Weldon, in fact, the entire original New York and Boston cast of stars, the most brilliant array of musical comedy artists ever assembled under one banner; a large chorus of trained voices and a special orchestra.

It will cost the Auditorium management $1,200 to bring this attraction to Bismarck, and the tickets must be subscribed for at least two weeks in advance. What is the use of having a theatre if the city does not have the very best of New York attractions?

The subscription list will open at once at Finney's drug store. All you have to do is to call telephone No. 9 or 29 and have your name placed on the list for the number of tickets you wish. Do not subscribe for tickets unless you wish to pay for them.

The prices are unusually low for an attraction of this calibre, so it is up to you if you want to see "Flora Bella" to order your tickets immediately, as J. A. Lacy, Mr. Cort's special representative, will be in the city shortly, at which time it will be decided whether Bismarck is to have "Flora Bella" or not.

"The White Raven" is in a class with "The Spoilers." At the Orpheum tonight.

Breweries Oppose Gronna Bill to Stop Use of Grain

(Washington, May 7.—Headed by Gustave Habel, a delegation representing the breweries of the United States was heard by the Senate agricultural committee, on Senator Gronna's bill to forbid the manufacture of grain into alcoholic liquor during the war. The delegation told the committee that the brewing interest was prepared to co-operate with the government in every way. The actual amount of grain used in brewing, principally barley, they told the committee, represents less than three-fourths of one per cent of all grain used in the United States. Besides, they said, barley is not a staple food here or abroad. The area of land used to raise all the grain used for brewing in the United States, they told the committee, was less than seven one-hundredths of all the agricultural lands in the country.)

U. S. Only Nation Using "Peach Basket" Mast

Made of Steel and Can Be Shot Through Many Times Without Being Brought Down.

CAGE OR "PEACH BASKET" MASTS ON THE UNITED STATES BATTLESHIP NEW YORK.

The strange cage or "peach basket" masts of United States battleships and larger cruisers are unlike those of any other naval ships afloat. No seaman of wooden shipdays would recognize these odd structures as masts. They are really observation towers of steel.

The cage mast is the result of years of experimentation. American naval officers in an effort to create a lighter tower that could be hot full of holes and still stand up.

The cage mast is built of a large number of slender steel rods, so arranged that everyone of them could be pierced by shells, and unless these hits were closely grouped the mast would stand. So far no other nation has copied the United States style of mast.

This week is garden planting time. Plant and live high at low cost. Last week our sales of garden seeds was the largest, by far, of any week in our business experience. This week promises to be larger. Our stock of seed is being depleted so buy early and be sure of getting what you need. Quality is very good.

As to other supplies we would advise buying as you need the goods until the government completes its food survey, then we can tell better the prospects for the future.

Then should the government make minimum and maximum prices on many food products this might make some difference in prices.

So we are buying as needed to meet the trade and hoping that there will not be an increase of prices very greatly for the next sixty days. Then we hope to have a better grasp of the situation.

We would advise our customers to buy cautiously too, for that length of time.

DESTRUCTIVE TACTICS.

Action of the attorney general and the state board of health makes it necessary for the Tribune to state some unvarnished truths. Silence longer, since officials have entered the controversy, would seem to give consent and approbation.

Without investigation, but on the strength of rumor and falsehood, executive officers of the state board of health have joined in putting a ban upon the water supply of Bismarck, the best in the state.

Analyses of the most competent chemists in the United States show the Missouri river water to be one of the purest sources of supply anywhere. Experience in other states where the same water is used substantiate this.

Other points on the Missouri river using the water are not disturbed by the state board of health. It seems strange that Bismarck is singled out.

But admitting, for sake of argument, that Langer's position is tenable, tactics adopted by him and the state board of health show a venom unequalled by any official action ever taken in the state. Notices of an order to shut off the water supply were given in advance to the press and every facility to spread the news was utilized. So eager was Mr. Langer to damage the city, that he allowed to be connected with his order the fact that no mobilization of troops would be permitted here and that his assistant, Mr. Bronson of Grand Forks, had called upon the war department and set the "facts" before that body.

While this action was taking place, not one case of typhoid had been reported to the health authorities in more than a week and during the entire month of April only eight cases had been reported from Bismarck, fewer than those of Grand Forks or Fargo for a like period and much less than those reported from several other cities of the state for April, which are still drinking "uncensored" water.

It is a reflection upon the University of North Dakota that Dr. Cox, head of the health laboratory, should lend his name to the intrigue. One chemist assigned to Bismarck was discharged recently for gross incompetency. His reports, like those given by the present incumbent, have been checked up by St. Paul chemists of recognized merit and results are easily available. It is a notorious fact that the equipment and facilities here are inadequate to make suitable examinations. Local physicians in important cases do not rely upon the laboratory, but send most of their specimens and cultures elsewhere. One firm has its own laboratory.

The conduct of the state health laboratories under Dr. Cox approaches almost a public scandal and should be probed by the board of regents without delay. Misrepresentation as regards the water of Bismarck is sufficient ground to attack the efficiency and honesty of the entire system.

There is no necessity for boiling the water. It is as safe and pure as it has always been. For years the United States maintained thousands of regular soldiers at Fort Lincoln. Reports of the general health on file at the war department give the lie to Mr. Langer, Dr. Cox and the local bacteriologist, just as the absence of any epidemic or considerable number of diseases attributable to water supply in the city now give the lie to them at present writing.

Seldom in the history of the state has such official blackmail been practiced against a city or its reputation attacked, or the business interests subjected to possible serious consequences.

If President McVey permits this misrepresentation of the health laboratories to continue, he is not worthy to head the institution.

There is nothing to conceal. The city commission, the Tribune and in fact, every honest citizen, all are vitally interested in giving the city the best water supply and to correct any dangerous conditions. But where is the evidence that the water has a deleterious effect upon the consumers?

There is not a physician in the city who can point to a single instance.

Do eight cases in a city of 8,000 constitute an epidemic?

We ask this question seriously of the learned pedants at the University, Dr. McVey, Dr. Cox, and we further press it home to the nincompoop who rattles around in the attorney general's chair, and we put it up to the honesty of the local bacteriologist, if he has any.

Why this slanderous attack upon one of Bismarck's best assets in the absence of any evidence of disease or poor health conditions to substantiate it?

The object of the present campaign is well known. These male factors will fail. Records show the general health of the community and Mr. Langer will have to present something more solid than wild rumor and street gossip.

Let him go the limit and prove his assertions.

The Tribune is confident when an honest, not a political, investigation is made, the water and Bismarck's health conditions will be second to none in the state.

It is hoped that the political jackals will hunt their holes and allow the city to continue its wonderful growth and progress.

Press reports state that F. E. Packard dexterously used a pick at the Arbor Day celebration upon the capitol grounds. What a relief it must have been to lay aside the hammer for even a few fitting moments.

MAY IT HELP HIM.

A trip to Washington at this critical time in the nation's history was a wise move for Governor Frazier. He will get a proper slant upon the situation, which, if he is a keen observer, will enable him to differentiate between a statesman and the demagogues with which he is now surrounded.

It is too early to ascertain whether the trip will correct some of the vagaries he has been obsessed with since he took office, but let us hope that association with some of the best minds of the nation will broaden his vision and reduce to their right proportions the political expedients which his advisers have forced upon him, notably the board of regents' litigation.

Reports indicate that he entered heartily into the conferences of food experts and is ready as the governor of a great state to enlist all forces to meet the exigencies the war has imposed upon everyone.

The governor should frown upon the political horse-play that has been going on in some of the departments. He should insist upon greater economy in many of the offices which are now spending the public funds like sailors on shore leave.

If it is to be a regime of thrift on all sides, where can a better place be found to set the example than at the state house?

The Tribune trusts Mr. Frazier returns broadened and benefited by his experiences at Washington.

Boiling with enthusiasm, Billy Sun day told his New York congregation, "Something's going to happen here that will make hell howl." And now the Great White Way is howling because ordered to close up by 1:00 a. m.

Oregon ice companies threaten to raise prices 100 to 150 per cent. There's a war. Ammonia is good in making war or ice.

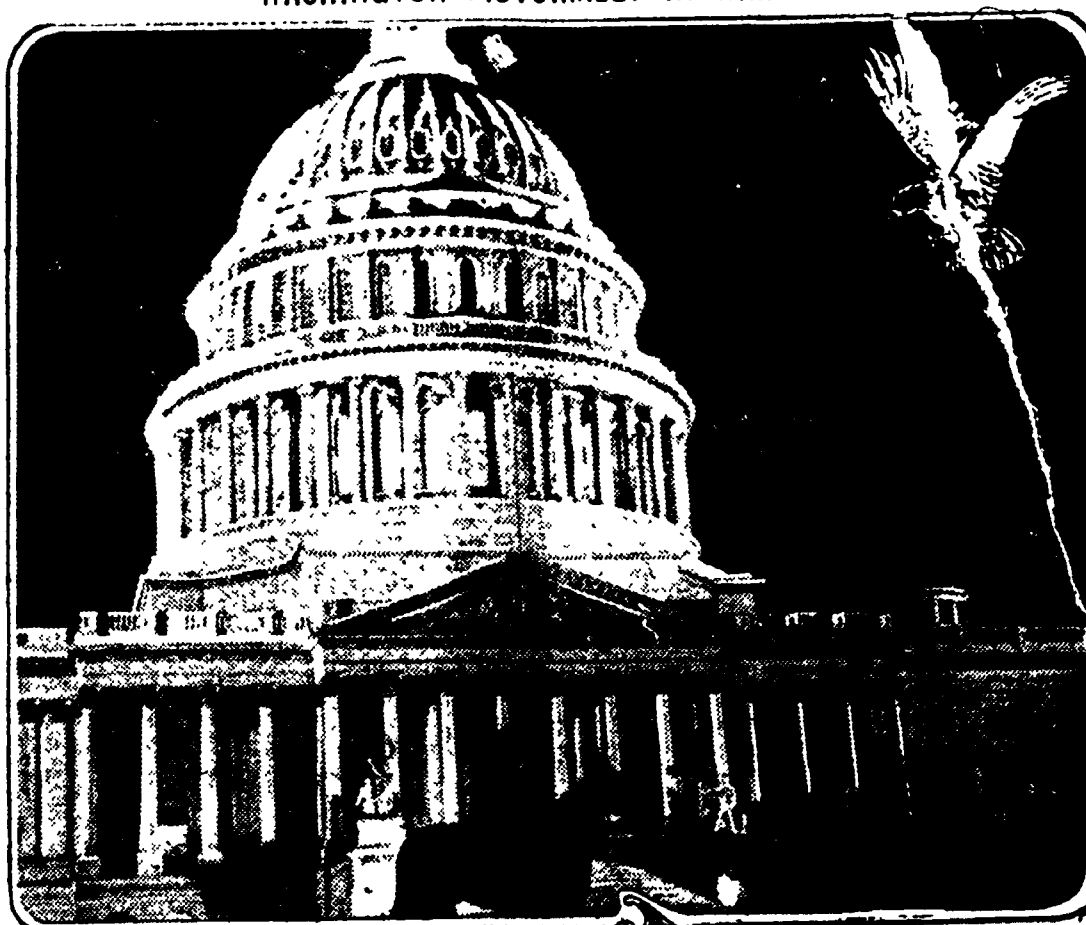

Guess that Nebraska is now called skin-dry. You can't buy, sell, make or give, but you can "possess" the red stuff.

Ignorance as to just where that new Russian government is at continues. Maybe a mistake was made in not hanging the royalty and pacifists.

Doubling the pay of enlisted men is a first-class war measure and Congress deserves a pat on the back.

Last year United States distillers and brewers used 130,000,000 bushels of grain in the making of alcoholic beverages. In making whole-wheat flour instead of whole-wheat flour the millers wasted 80,000,000 bushels, as human food. Shortage of food is due to other things than laziness of the farmer, all right.

EAT LESS; DO MORE.

(Chicago Tribune.)

A fat nation is no good. Lean nations accomplish things. Courage is not fat belied. Intellect cannot be fat headed. The otiose life finds place in the adipose body.

We should eat less and think more, have smaller girth and larger chests, less on the hips and more on the thorax, have fewer potatoes at dinner and more books after dinner, more exercise and less chewing.

A strong person can subsist on a little oatmeal and philosophy and outwalk, outtalk, outthink, and in every way outdo the person who travels the long route from soup to nuts and goes to sleep afterwards as an anasconda full of sheep or monkeys might.

Life is a lean affair of hungry appetites and ambitions. They are best kept hungry. Then they stimulate to earnest performance. The fat belied man does nothing but eat and sleep. We cannot support Esau any longer. The god of the American nation is not its belly. It is a god of muscle, with strong lines in its visage and determination in its body expression. The regeneration of the American nation begins at the dinner table. We need stoutness in soul, not stoutness in fat. Eat less and do more. Grow more above the neck and less below the stomach.

Dinner table reform will preserve the food supply, preserve the morale, help the national courage, and put things over.

READERS' COLUMN

Medora, N. D., May 4, 1917.

Tribune: We have tried to tell, briefly as space could be given in a daily paper, conditions under the rule of kings and nobility. We have not told the worst.

It may be asked if such conditions have existed for hundreds of years and do exist today, why has an all-wise God permitted such things?

The preacher will tell you that the ways of God are strange and known only to himself. But aside from this answer there must be a reason which can be fathomed by ordinary man. Some might call it a question of psychology. Others again might say: "If such governments have existed for so long a time they must be the best."

Man has in all ages been a superstitious animal, and is today. In his primitive stage what he could not account for by his untrained mind, he attributed to the supernatural; to good or evil demons. As he progressed some became wiser than others and would perform miracles, and other sleight of hand tricks, and would impose on his weaker brethren, and gain power over them, as is done by some today. Kings found such mountebanks useful in their craft, and created them into a priesthood. No wonder Cato said he wondered why the seethayers did not laugh when they met face to face.

For the majority, under the rule of kings and nobility, it was a struggle for existence, for at the end of a war the country would be devastated and it would be years before comfort was again in the land; and then another war. There was little time for self-improvement; books were few and dear; only such would be allowed to circulate as suited the purpose of the rulers. In Egypt there were two languages, or kind of writings—one for the priests, and the other for the common people.

Man has accustomed himself to conditions. Once kingship rule was established, by the aid of superstition, the common people had no voice in the government. Why should they have? Were kings not made to rule by divine right, and the common people made to do their bidding? Were kings not endowed by divine right and power? It's true there were always a few brave souls who tried to penetrate the mists of superstition, and who thought, too, that they were men who had some rights. But for such there was always the rack, block, or the fire.

It's a most difficult matter to break away from old customs and old ideas. Ages passed and man became accustomed to live under kingship rule, and learned to believe that such was right and was established by divine power. Why should he wish it otherwise? He had never enjoyed the privilege of governing himself. He never thought of such a condition.

"My dear countrymen, and women, we have thousands in our midst today whose formative period has passed under a kingly rule who cannot get free from the old idea of the divine right of kings to rule. For such we can only be sorry; as we think how their real manhood has been retarded by thousands of years of ancestors."

In the early part of the seventeenth century a few brave souls, perhaps the bravest ever born, found in America an unsettled land—a land without kings and nobility. They found no common people who had been taught for years to honor kings. What a blessing for mankind!

The life of these brave people in the new world was a struggle for existence. They found a government was necessary, and the outline of one, without kings, was formed on the ship, Mayflower—the ship which carried the bravest and best of men and women that ever trod the earth. Let others laugh if they choose.

These people conquered the savage and the elements of the new world. They had to depend upon themselves or perish. They found that a government could be established without kings or nobility, excepting the nobility of the common man.

For years new settlers were slow in coming, but those who did soon learned to govern themselves. One hundred and fifty years rolled by, during which time thousands were born and grew to manhood who had never seen king or nobility. Time and absence caused the loss of all respect for the gentry, and man at last learned that he could govern himself without their aid.

After the country had been settled kings afar claimed the ownership of the land, as they had always done elsewhere, and commenced to give it to their friends—not only in small lots, but by states. Had kings continued to rule the country the conditions would have been the same here as in Europe. The lands would have been in the hands of the nobility and, in place of my German friends, having free homesteads, they would have been serfs on the soil.

Should Germany win the present war democracy will be at an end. As some of my ancestors have fought in all the wars of this country; my only regret is that I am unable to carry the gun as I did in '61 to '65, but one of my sons says he will represent the old family.

Your Own Garden

BY A GARDENER

Garden beets are easily grown on any good soil, but rich, sandy loam will give the best results. If your soil is clayey, work in sand or sifted ashes, and spade deeply.

The early beets should be thinned out to 4 or 5 inches apart in rows about a foot apart. The seed should be sown about one inch deep for the early crop and about half an inch deeper for the late crop.

For a succession during the summer, plantings should be made every three or four weeks during the spring months.

The main crop should be sown the last half of May or the first of June. For winter use the late sown beets are better than the early. Not having completed their growth they are more tender and of better quality.

Beets are harvested by pulling and topping. Be careful not to cut the root as this incites bleeding and may cause decay. After cutting off the tops store beets in boxes or bins in boxes or bins in a cool cellar, covering them with sand to prevent drying and shriveling.

Beets, being a root crop, need a deep soil. That is, the spading must be deeper than for such crops as lettuce, radishes and onions.

As the flat or turnip-rooted varieties grow at the surface, the seed may be sown thickly, and as the more advanced roots are large enough to use they may be pulled, leaving room for the later one to develop, thus growing a quantity in a small area and having a long season of small beets from one sowing.

Late beets can stay in the ground during the period of light frosts, but should be pulled up before severe cold weather sets in.

Stoke-Newington ass-woman dares me to fight her for the ten pounds. I do assure her I will not fail meeting her for the said sum, and doubt not that the blows which I shall present her with will be much more difficult for her to digest than any she ever gave her asses."—Ladies' Home Journal.

ONE BETTER

"Father," asked eight-year-old Alice, returning home from school, "are you good at punctuation?"

"Yes," replied the father.
 "Well, tell me, please, how would you punctuate, 'The ass blew a $5 bill around the corner?'"
 "My daughter, I would simply put a period at the end of the sentence."
 "I wouldn't," said Alice, mischievously. "I would make a dash after the $5 bill."—Puck.

THESE ARE WAR TIMES

A Princeton gardener, when asked by the "war" committee to plant beans, replied: "Why, there's going to be so many beans and people will be so sick of them this winter that you'll have to run a man down, tie him and feed 'em like pigs to get the beans disposed of."

"Let me tell you, old man," said a bystander, "you and a lot of other people in the next year are going to learn to 'love' a great many things—beans included—that you may not think much of now."

SOCIETY

Alumni Association Formed At Banquet Saturday Evening

Covers were laid for 12 at the banquet Saturday evening at the Grand Pacific hotel given by the graduates of the Valley City normal school. Following the banquet a permanent organization was formed to be known as the "Burleigh County Alumni Association."

Miss Emma Bell of Avenue B was named president of the new organization; Miss Katherine Boyle, secretary and treasurer. Miss Lella Diekmann was unanimously chosen a delegate to confer with the board and other delegates of the state at a meeting in Valley City where arrangements will be completed for the celebration in June to be held in honor of President G. A. McFarland, who closes his quarter of a century of work with the institution.

E. B. Cox, son-in-law of President McFarland, presided and Miss Diekmann acted as secretary pro tem. Each of the guests gave one dollar, which will be used towards the memorial for Mr. McFarland.

A pleasing feature of the banquet was the telegram received from the Barnes County Pioneer association to the normal school. This greeting was rewarded by the new organization sending a telegram in return.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Cox, Miss Dorothy McFarland, the last two named daughters of President McFarland; Miss Bell, Miss Diekmann, Miss Jessie Irwin, Mrs. Harold Wright, Mrs. R. S. Towne, Miss Blenda Anderson, Miss Ada Mauer, Mrs. Edward White and Mrs. Grace Hugh McCusker, the latter from Braddock.

Large Sum Realized From Silver Tea for Company A

The silver tea given by the younger girls of the capital city Saturday afternoon in the Lahr building for Company A was a huge success. From 3 o'clock to 6 the tea room was crowded and liberal offerings, which amounted to over $80.00, were received.

From 3 o'clock to 4 Mrs. Lynn J. Frazier and Mrs. J. G. Moore poured; from 4 o'clock to 5 Mrs. E. H. L. Vesperman and Mrs. J. A. Haney, and from 5 o'clock to 6 Mrs. Minnie Clark Budington and Mrs. A. A. Bruce. Twelve of the younger girls were aides.

Just at the hour of 3 George Smith, one of the buglers of Company A, gave the bugle call announcing the opening of the tea. Many of the soldiers attended and were given a great welcome. The rooms were artistically appointed in the national colors and red and white carnations. Members of the Thursday Musical club presented the musical program.

Two members of the Boy Scouts of the city assisted at the door and received the offerings. The women of the Auxiliary to Company A conducted a candy sale in connection with the tea and disposed of all their candies long before the tea was over. A number of cakes and other dainties were donated and a committee, composed of the girls in charge of the tea, took them to Camp Fraser Sunday morning for the boys.

TAFFETA, SATIN, CHIFFON AND BEADS Make A Striking Gown

By Betty Brown.

New York.—One of the most striking gowns displayed on Fifth avenue this week is an intricate combination of heavy black taffeta, cherry satin, chiffon and elaborate bead embroidery.

The taffeta skirt is more than usual ly full and its generous proportions are exaggerated by the liberal use of cherry satin facings in the side panels.

The waist appears extraordinarily simple, but is, in fact, a marvelous ensemble of crepe, beads, satin, chiffon and taffeta.

Old Fashion Hickory Pole Is All Right But It Is More Fun to Use Modern Tackle

We've always had the idea that the guy who invented "fishing tackle" was hep to the dope that it took some special weapons with which to tackle fish.

Guess he found it difficult lambasting brook trout with rocks and hadda get some other method to "tackle" 'em.

The kid down on the farm, he catches fish in the good old-fashioned way. If they are biting good the old bent pin and the "assorted sizes" from Brown's General Store are good enough. They got the fish.

But the modern fisherman has added a whole truck load of killers to his tackle kit.

Have you ever seen some skinny kid with a hickory pole hiking fer home with a whole string of fish?

Of course you have, and that proves that you don't have to buy a $50 reel and $25 rod in order to get the fish.

Truth be known, generally speaking, you can get as many or more fish with the old-fashioned layout than with the new, but the delicate strips of bamboo and the jeweled reel give a new kind of pleasure. That explains the why of the whole gamut of recent inventions. The boys are rapidly getting away from the idea that in order to have a successful day's fishing you must take home enough to supply the neighborhood.

It isn't necessary to "burn" your money on a fishing outfit. You can get an inexpensive rod and reel and a nice, soft, braided line and perhaps do just as well with them as the fellow who has the $100 outfit. One thing is sure, with a casting outfit you get more action, more exercise, more pleasure and the game is more sportsmanlike.

BLACK SAFETY TREAD TIRES

THE new Ford-car SUPER-TIRES—Goodrich's "THREE-SEVENTY-FIVES"—give the final touch of perfection to a Ford car.

Though they cost a little more than ordinary tires, the greater style, comfort, and efficiency you gain from a Ford with them thrice cancel the first cost.

Tires of HEROIC SIZE, they last longer. Look them over at your dealer's. Ask him for—

GOODRICH
375 SIZE (31X3 3/4 INCHES) 375
BLACK SAFETY TREAD TIRES

You will find them big, burly tires—burly in extra rubber and extra wear, made in the five-finger Safety Tread ONLY.

They fit 30-inch rims, but are an inch bigger on the circumference than ordinary tires, with full three and three-quarter inches in the cross section.

Put "THREE-SEVENTY-FIVES" under your Ford, and you add value in appearance to the class of your car.

On account of reduced stress and strain they double your joy of motoring, and the life of your car, and spell tire economy in bigger mileage.

RELATIVES GET WORD OF DEATH OF WM. DOLAN

Remains Will Be Brought to Bismarck Wednesday for Burial at Old Home

PARTICULARS OF DEATH HAVE NOT BEEN LEARNED

William J. Dolan, 43, formerly a resident of Bismarck—his old home—and for 20 years employed in the book bindery department of The Tribune and of later years running a bindery establishment in connection with The Journal office at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, met accidental death in a business house of that city Saturday morning, according to a message reaching relatives here.

The body, in charge of Arthur O'Hearn of Jamestown, a brother-in-law, will be brought to Bismarck on Wednesday evening on train No. 2. A military service will probably be held. Mr. Dolan formerly holding the position of corporal in Company A and having served with that unit in the Philippines.

Particulars Are Lacking.

The only particulars received here are that Dolan left Coeur d'Alene early Saturday morning for Spokane to join his wife, formerly Miss Eva Dresser of this city, who was visiting a Bismarck resident at Spokane. It was while he was waiting for her that the accident occurred.

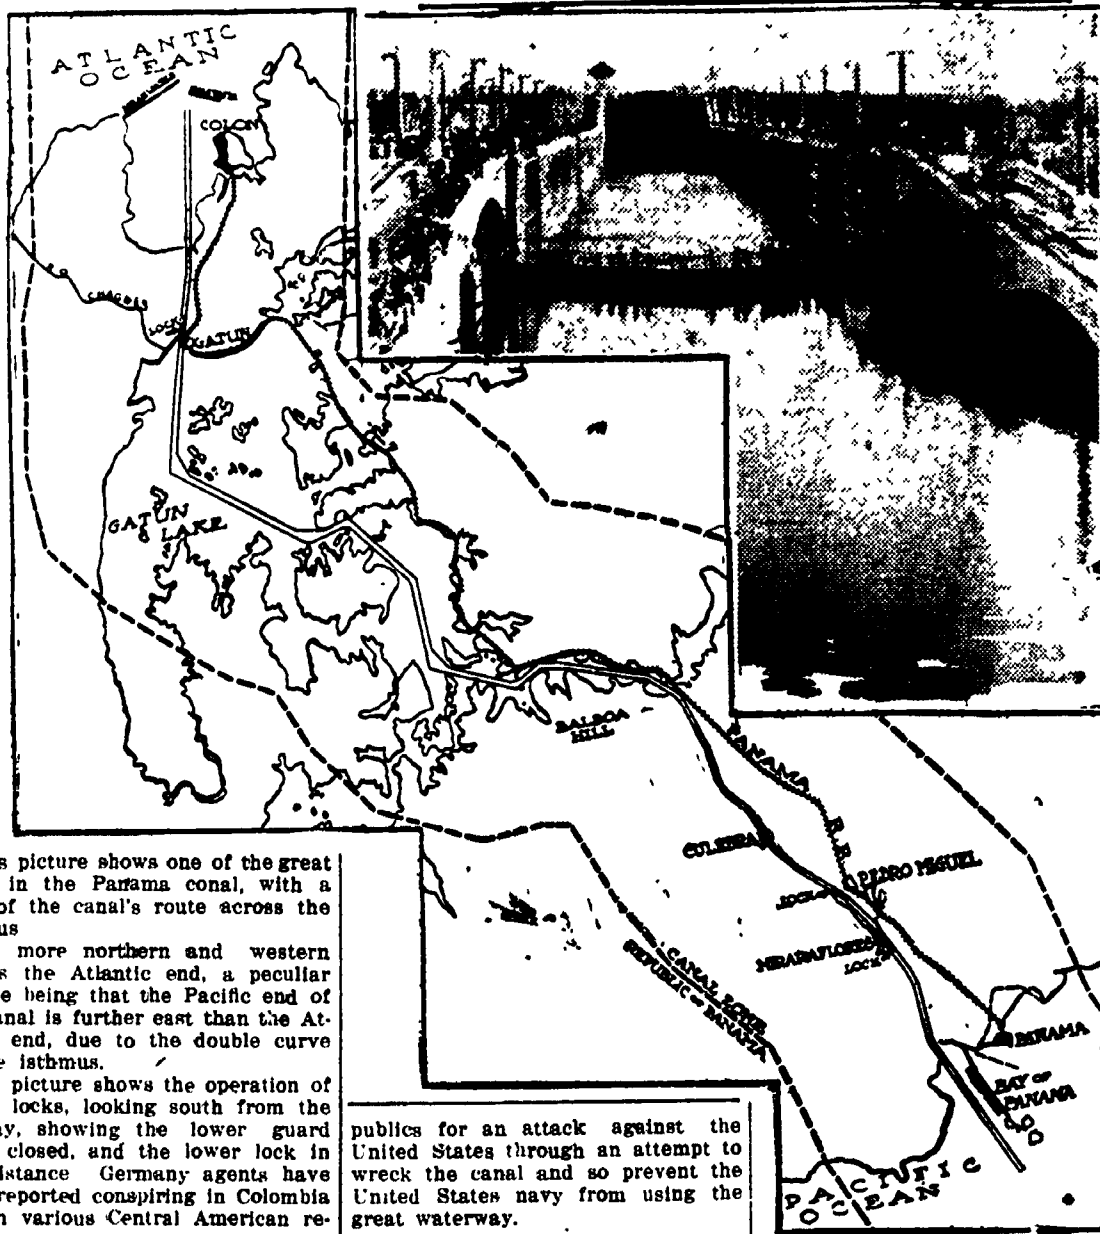

William J. Dolan left Bismarck about 12 years ago, shortly after his marriage going to Coeur d'Alene, where he resided. The couple made a visit to Bismarck about five years ago. They had no children.

Mother Lives Here.

Relatives are the mother, Mrs. John Dolan, of First street, two brothers, John C. Dolan proprietor of the First National barber shop, and George Dolan, former police magistrate, and two sisters, Mrs. John Homan of Bismarck, and Mrs. Arthur O'Hearn of Jamestown.

GREAT STRATEGIC WATERWAY MENAGED BY U. S. FOES

This picture shows one of the great locks in the Panama canal, with a map of the canal's route across the isthmus.

The more northern and western end is the Atlantic end, a peculiar feature being that the Pacific end of the canal is further east than the Atlantic end, due to the double curve in the isthmus.

The picture shows the operation of Gatun locks, looking south from the forebay, showing the lower guard gates closed, and the lower lock in the distance. Germany agents have been reported conspiring in Colombia and in various Central American republics for an attack against the United States through an attempt to wreck the canal and so prevent the United States navy from using the great waterway.

MASONIC MEETING.

There will be a regular meeting of Bismarck No. 5, A. F. & A. M., Monday evening, April 7, 1917, at 8 o'clock. Work in F. C. degree. Visitors cordially invited.

TREATED TIES TO BE AVAILABLE FOR CAR LINE BY WEDNESDAY

Board of Control Approaches One Step Nearer Solution of Railway Problem

The state board of control rejoiced today over the receipt of a wire from the North Pacific maintenance department advising that treated ties for the relaying of the capitol street railway in paving district No. 1 will be available at Brainerd, Minn., on three days' notice. An order for the ties was put in immediately, and they should be on hand by Wednesday.

The question of rails still presents a difficulty. City Engineer Atkinson has specified seven-inch rails. After scouring the country over the best state architect can find is six-inch rails. Whether the state and city can compromise on this lighter steel remains to be seen.

OFFICERS RESERVE CANDIDATES ASKED TO FILE ONCE MORE

Owing to the fact that Central department headquarters at Chicago are flooded with applications, Capt. B. F. Ristine, Bismarck examining officer for the officers' reserve training camp to be established May 15 at Fort Snelling, asks that candidates from this district whose applications went in to Chicago and who have not heard from them, file duplicate applications and letters of recommendation with him.

It is feared that unless this is done, there will not be time for the preliminary examinations, as there is no way of learning when the blanks may be returned from Chicago.

It is emphasized that there is to be no technical examination for the officers' reserve, and that the medical examination will be made as light as possible. Only incapacitating defects, abnormalities and deformities, or obnoxious diseases, will result in the barring out of a candidate who otherwise is qualified.

"WHITE RAVEN" TONIGHT

First Picture Drama in Which Miss Barrymore Has Played Since Abandoning Speaking Stage.

Special interest attaches to "The White Raven," which will be seen at the Orpheum tonight, because it is the first picture drama which Miss Barrymore has played in since her announcement that she had abandoned the speaking stage for the silent drama.

Another noteworthy point about the role Miss Barrymore plays in "The White Raven" is that in several scenes she is seen as a song and dance girl in an Alaskan "honkatonk" or "miners' dance hall."

"The White Raven" is in a class with "The Spoilers" and is in six acts. A Metro Drew comedy will be included in the bill tonight.

CRAIG FOR CONGRESS LATEST STRAIGHT DOPE FROM FIRST DISTRICT

Ralph W. Craig, sheriff of Hanson county, and son of Rev. R. H. Craig, formerly pastor of McCabe church in Bismarck, and now with a charge at Dickinson, is the latest sure-enough favorite for the Republican nomination for representative, to succeed the late Henry T. Helgeson in the First district.

Craig is a clean-cut young fellow who has made a name for himself and many admirers as well as a few enemies by the fearless manner in which he has enforced the law in Hanson county. Politically, he is something of a progressive and a reformer, but is so unco-radical as to antagonize the conservatives.

Capitol folk who know Craig well believe he would make a strong candidate. He would, they say, prove the liveliest wire in the North Dakota delegation, and if sent to Washington in his comparative youth, a brilliant career is predicted by those who are familiar with the ability of the young sheriff.

STATE FIREMEN'S MEET MAY BE CALLED OFF ON ACCOUNT OF WARFARE

Suggestions reaching State Fire Marshal H. L. Reade, secretary of the North Dakota Firemen's association, indicate a desire on the part of a number of departments scattered over the state that the annual convention scheduled for Valley City on June 12, 13 and 14 be called off, temporarily at least. The will of the majority will govern in this matter. All of the firefighters are anxious to again enjoy Valley City's hospitality, and no formal action looking toward the annulment of the convention has been taken. Many feel, however, that in view of the war crisis all meetings of this nature should be called off.

No advice is available as to the probable identity of Fire Marshal Reade's deputy. It is probable that Governor Frazier, who returns tomorrow from the national defense council at Washington, will make this appointment early in the week.
